HyVolution postponed to May 2021 New dates, new location!

GL events has decided to postpone the HyVolution exhibition it jointly organizes with France Hydrogène (formerly AFHYPAC), originally scheduled for 10th & 11th February, 2021 at Parc Floral de Paris. Faced with the current pandemic and keen to take every precaution, the organizers announce that they have decided on the most realistic course of action, namely to postpone the 2021 edition. The health of exhibitors, employees, partners, and visitors remains an absolute priority.

HyVolution will now take place on 4th–5th May, 2021 in the Paris Event Center (PEC) at Paris-La Villette.

Hydrogen's place in European and French news keeps growing in stature. Be it with regard to Industry, heavy transport, or research, the French government's strategy announced this year on 8th September will facilitate the large-scale development of hydrogen in the aim of increasing the "sustainability" of key sectors in the economy. All hydrogen stakeholders are therefore gearing up to accelerate the roll-out of solutions and the execution of projects.

Today, HyVolution covers all application areas for hydrogen along with the whole value chain. The exhibition is more determined than ever to cement its role as a go-to gathering for all hydrogen market players. We are all set up to organize this postponement and are confident we can count on commitment from the exhibitors and partners.

"By contributing to the accelerating market impetus as it has done for three editions now, HyVolution is a real shop window for innovation and a place for networking the whole of the Hydrogen sector and its stakeholders. We thank the sector's professionals—partners, exhibitors, and visitors alike—for their support and trust, convinced it will be on show once again at the 2021 edition."
